Shipments are made C.O.D. or a remittance to accompany the order.

Read what Fritz Bahr has to say about Boston Ferns, in last weeks "Florist Exchange".

"There are many sections in the country where a shortage of Boston Ferns exists this Spring. Not having had much call for them during the past two or three years, quite a few growers have discontinued carrying them. Even at present there is not a great demand for them, but with some of us it is certainly ahead of what it was a year ago, and there is every indication that this will keep on for next Fall and Winter.

"After all there is nothing quite like a Boston Fern for a house plant and I don't know of anything that will take its place in the near future. If you have the room you will make no mistake in growing on a good sized batch of plants for next Fall, and as easy and good a way as any to handle them during Summer is to bench 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. stock during the latter part of this month or as soon as your bedding stock thins out. Grown in a partly shaded house, this will result in specimens large enough for 5s or 6s by September, or you can combine three or more plants for use in 8 in. bulb pans."

Ferns are now shipped express collect, second class rate instead of first class - resulting in a 25% saving to you.

Please place your order, and we know you will be pleased.

Cordially yours,
ORANGE COUNTY FERN GROWERS ASSOCIATION
